

GUIDE TO OUR FABRIC UPCYCLING SCHEME

We consider the full impact of our products and look to reduce, reuse, repair, repurpose then recycle wherever possible. As part of our commitment, we are proud to be the first supplier to offer a repurposing scheme for our flags and other fabric products.

Join us in our pledge to reduce the 895,000 tonnes of textile waste that enters landfill each year by sending us your used flags so we can transform into new products such as shopping bags and dog toys.

HOW OUR FREE SCHEME WORKS

1

Post your used flags back to us at this address:

Flag Upcycling Team, Harrison Flagpoles, 38 Borough Road, Darlington, County Durham, DL1 1SW

We accept all types of flags (screen printed, digitally printed, handsewn) in any design, size and condition.

If you would like a certificate via email to show you have taken part in our upcycling scheme, please include a note of your email address with the flags.

2

Once we have received your flags, our team will then assess them to decide how best to upcycle them. Knitted polyester flags in good condition make great shopping bags, whereas worn flags are more suitable for turning into dog toys.

3

Our skilled team of seamstresses transform your flags into new products which can either be purchased at a small cost or donated to local charities. If your flags are too worn to be re-purposed we will recycle them.

4

At the end of their life our upcycled products can be recycled with textile waste.
